Our shared values in action

EACH MIND MATTERS

The green bench is a welcoming symbol of a commitment by Mission Hospital, St. Joseph Hospital of Orange and St. Jude Medical Center to reach out to the vulnerable through a program called Each Mind Matters. The goal is to reach out with compassion, to coax conversations that recognize the inner pain of mental illness and helps those who suffer know there is hope.

“We go to all types of events in Orange County, especially event where we know we will find parents. They are the critical connector for the family unit,” said Christy Cornwall, director of community health investment for Providence, the hospitals’ parent organization, in Orange County. “Parents are concerned about social media, depression, the pressures of being a child today, bullying, substance use, vaping...”

Each Mind Matters is a statewide mental health campaign that recognizes mental health issues and encourages people to support one another. The goal is to help improve mental health and thus quality of life.

“We believe health is a human right, and that health begins with a focus on wellness through primary care. We invest in the health of our communities by expanding access to care; educating challenged communities about healthy eating, fitness and preventive care; recognizing and managing social determinants of health; and addressing mental health as part of our commitment to whole person care. This all helps us realize our vision of health for a better world.”
